Subject: Course Fee Waiver Process

Background

The Board of Trustees has legislative authority to set fees other than tuition, including course fees and administrative fees. Examples include lab fees, distance learning fees, transcript fees, parking fees, etc. The College has an administrative process in place for soliciting and reviewing fee proposals each year. Through this process, new fees or changes to existing fees may ultimately be proposed by the President to the Board for adoption. Typically the Board considers and, at its discretion, adopts fees at the same time as its consideration and adoption of the annual operating budget, which usually occurs in June of each year.

Fees applied to courses are, on the whole, necessary to support expenditures on goods and services, and in some cases salaries and benefits, associated with particular courses. In some cases, however, course fees could be waived temporarily without detriment to the fee budget, for example, in cases where a budget has accumulated significant reserves. In these cases, waiver of fees could be used as an incentive for students to take courses, particularly where the course fees are significant. For example, students in the College's new First Year Fast Forward courses, which use a cohort model to encourage persistence and completion, currently have fees of $70 per quarter associated with them, due to the courses' use of a partially online (hybrid) teaching modality. Use of incentives such as this would allow the College to determine, through data-gathering, whether a course is yielding sufficient results to bring it to a larger scale.

The College proposes that the Board allow the President, in consultation with the Executive Leadership Team, to waive course fees associated with new and experimental courses that support strategic priorities of the College, for a period of no more than one year. This would allow the College to provide an incentive for students to take such courses.

Recommendation

That the Board authorize waiver of certain course fees by the following motion:

RESOLVED, that the Board of Trustees authorizes the College, by action of the President in consultation with the Executive Leadership Team, to waive course fees for new and experimental courses that support strategic priorities of the College, for a period of no more than one year.

Subject: Board Reserve and Two-Year Funding of Special Assistant to the President for Community Engagement

Background

The College has been successfully included in the capital budget request of the State Board for Community and Technical Colleges (SBCTC) for a project to replace five existing buildings on campus with a new health sciences classroom complex. If approved by the legislature in its upcoming session, predesign and design of the new 69,600-square-foot building will occur in the 2015–17 biennium, and construction will occur in the 2017–19 biennium. Of the approximately $40 million in total project costs, the College is required to raise, from private sources, at least $3 million. Inclusion of the $3 million private contribution in the College's proposal allowed the project to score high enough to be included in SBCTC's capital budget request to the legislature.

Involvement of the Shoreline Community College Foundation will be key in obtaining private contributions to the project. To that end, the Foundation's capacity for fund-raising will need to be enhanced, as would be the case with any major capital campaign.

In order to assist the Foundation in being able to carry out a successful capital campaign, the College administration recommends funding and hiring a new, temporary, part-time administrative exempt position for two years with the title Special Assistant to the President for Community Engagement. This position would report directly to the President and would be responsible for carrying out the following principal duties:

1. Assist in supporting the President with organization of the Foundation in its structure and board recruitment, training, and strategy development.
2. Assist the President in defining the necessary staffing for the Foundation and identifying candidates to support the President and the Foundation's board of directors.
3. Identify prospects for the feasibility study in preparation for the capital campaign. In addition, identify community leaders and create the strategy to build relationships with them for the President and other College leaders identified by her. Assist and advise the President on execution of the capital campaign.

The College expects that the cost of the position will be $75,000 per year plus employer payroll taxes and benefits (but not health insurance benefits), for a total of $170,000 over the two-year period. The College administration requests that the Board of Trustees fund this cost through use of its Board reserve account.
