As we look forward to a new President who we are excited about, I strongly believe in collaborative work, and I strongly encourage that we will work together as a team. But most importantly, with our students as a priority.”

Notable Changes

Programs	2021-2022 Budget	Summer/Fall Requested	Summer/Fall Allocation
Athletics	$220,066	$314,654	$289,985

Since spending for many of the sports teams occur throughout the year, their budgets will continue to be fully funded for the 2022-2023 academic year. Due to low spending for intramurals during 2021-2022, the budget was partially funded for summer/fall 2022 with the understanding that additional funding can be requested for winter/spring or via ASG's mini-grant budget.

Notable Changes

Programs	2021-2022 Budget	Summer/Fall Requested	Summer/Fall Allocation
Student Life	$270,192	$208,623	$208,623

Student Life’s budget supports administrative and classified staff salaries & benefits in addition to goods & services needed for large-scale campus events like New Student Orientation and printing support for student clubs. Funding was requested for an additional classified staff position to provide administrative support; a previous support position existed in the office until 2019 when College funding was reduced.

Notable Changes

Programs	2021-2022 Budget	Summer/Fall Requested	Summer/Fall Allocation
Benefits Hub		$1,600	$1,600

The campus food pantry (part of the Benefits Hub) was previously funded through the Gender Equity Center. Due to recent restructuring within that area, a separate budget was established for the Benefits Hub to ensure that funding support is committed to the food pantry moving forward.

Notable Changes

Programs	2021-2022 Budget	Summer/Fall Requested	Summer/Fall Allocation
Art Gallery	$0	$0	$0
DECA	$0	$0	$0
Instrumental Music	$0	$0	$0
Spindrift	$28,694	$0	$0

Art Gallery, DECA, Instrumental Music, Spindrift, and Theater Tech did not submit a funding request for summer/fall 2022.

In Conclusion...

- Proposed allocations of $851,672 to support 15 S&A programs, student clubs, and discretionary budgets during summer/fall 2022
- Projected revenue of $1 million for 2022-2023
- Up to $400,000 may be accessed from reserves to provide support for all programs through spring 2023

To the Board of Trustees, good evening. My name is Sunshine Cheng, I am the Student Body President.

As the quarter begins to wind down, Student Life has continued to host a series of giveaways and events to support our students and encourage them to finish strong. From garden parties, cookie decorating, and a recent field day at Carkeek park, it has been a joy to see students celebrate the end of our year together. I am perhaps most excited for the return of A&E's Sun Fest, and look forward to closing out the spring quarter with a week of outdoor activities in the summer warmth of June.

In the office, there is talk of our next adventures after this, and I am so excited for my peers who have worked so hard for this moment. After the last two years, it is bittersweet for me to say this will be my second to last meeting here. After all our college has endured, I feel hopeful for our path forward, and plan to spend the remainder of my term here in dialogue with our community about our journey toward true equity in higher education.

For now, I want to wish the college the best of luck over the weeks to come, and a restful end to spring quarter. I will see you all again in June.

Thank you.

SCCFT President Eric Hamako
Statement to the SCC Board of Trustees
2022.05.25

I ask that my comments be read into the record.

Trustees of the Board:

My name is Eric Hamako. I am the President of the faculty's union, the Shoreline Community College Federation of Teachers (SCCFT), Local 1950 of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT).

Years ago, I was a Boy Scout. In my troop, when a Scout earned their Eagle Scout award, we'd write to a legislator, who would have a U.S. flag briefly flown over the state capitol and then sent to the Eagle Scout. I remember seeing the triangular box that a friend received, containing his flag. We noted, with some irony, the words printed on the side of the box: "Quality exceeds government standards." I'm sure that the box's designer meant the statement as a reference to the flag it would contain, but we read it more broadly. "Quality exceeds government standards."

Today, we're about two and a half years into the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. In the United States alone, more than one million people have died from COVID. That's approximately one of every three hundred and fifty people in the United States. Millions more have been sickened, with many suffering long-term impairments that may last a lifetime. To date, it's apparent that a quality pandemic response far exceeds government standards and our government's actions.

Yet, as the pandemic surges yet again, government standards are receding further. What governmental public health measures that had been implemented are now being devolved from public, collective responsibilities to individual people's responsibilities. But, despite what the plummeting government standards for pandemic response might suggest, the pandemic is not over.

Two months ago, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC) moved the goalposts of government standards used to map the pandemic's impacts on the United States. In one fell swoop, the previous "Community Transmission" map, which showed medium and high COVID impacts across the U.S., was turned into soothing green “Community Levels” map – not because COVID had lessened, but because the CDC changed its standards. Citing that new map, government agencies further weakened standards for public health interventions: mask mandates lifted; testing sites reduced; at-home tests provided at levels insufficient for many families’ needs; test reporting increasingly devolved to individual decisions to report results or not; public pandemic funding to support unemployed, underemployed, and sick people drying up. Several states no longer report their COVID case numbers at all.

Perhaps unsurprisingly, the COVID-19 pandemic has again surged upward across the United States. Case rates are again increasing; hospitalizations are again increasing. Breakthrough cases among people who are vaccinated and boosted may be more than 1 in 5 new cases. New variants are spreading, more transmissible and less affected by current vaccines. So, even though the CDC moved its goalposts for mapping the pandemic, the pandemic again shows itself to be surging, turning even the new CDC map back toward the orange and red of medium and high pandemic levels. In King County, reported 7 day case rates per 100,000 are currently at 375 cases per 100,000 people. The only moment in the pandemic when 7 day case rates were higher in King County was the Omicron variant surge in January 2022, four months ago.

And, today, as the government standards and funding for providing COVID testing has been further withdrawn, more cases are being diagnosed via home rapid tests. Many of those positive tests are not being reported or represented in the current case counts. So, reported case counts are certainly an underrepresentation of the current spread of the pandemic. Nationwide and in King County, we are in the midst of another COVID wave. Or, perhaps a more apt metaphor would be a COVID iceberg, with only the tip of the current COVID cases visible in government reports. And the CDC is now predicting further surges in the coming Fall and Winter. So, it seems, a quality response to the pandemic would far exceed current government standards. The current government standards appear to be abdicating responsibility for pandemic public health in favor of an “every man for himself” approach, in which each individual is “free” to have as much health and safety as they can afford.

But, here at the College, faculty and classified workers are not left to individually fend for ourselves. We are organized into unions. And workplace health and safety is a mandatory subject of collective bargaining. Because we are unionized, the College must bargain with our faculty union over changes to workplace safety working conditions or bargain the effects of changing those conditions. During our faculty union’s bargaining of our first COVID pandemic memorandum of understanding (MOU) with the College and since then, the College said that it would meet government standards for workplace health and safety; those standards are the minimum requirements. Our faculty union was able to bargain some higher standards in our COVID MOU #1. However, now that the Federal and state government standards for pandemic safety are falling, the College is choosing to follow those standards downward, rather than improve its standards.

Under COVID MOU #1, faculty members had the right to seek accommodations to remote work remotely if they have family members who are at high-risk of harm by COVID. This reduced the risk of a faculty member spreading COVID infections to high-risk family members. But, with reduced government pandemic health standards, the College is taking the opportunity to lower its standard in this regard. That change by the College affects our faculty's workplace health & safety. So, rather than leaving it to individual faculty members to bargain with the College, our faculty union is demanding to bargain with the College over the effects of that change.

Under COVID MOU #1, faculty members had the right to seek accommodations to work remotely if they have children whose school schedules are impacted by the pandemic. But, with reduced government pandemic health standards, the College is taking the opportunity to lower its standard in this regard, as well. The College has pointed out that many schools are not currently changing their schedules in response to the pandemic. But, the CDC has predicted further COVID surges in the Fall and Winter. So, faculty members can reasonably anticipate pandemic-related school schedule changes in the coming school year. Rather than leaving it to individual faculty members to bargain with the College over such accommodations, our faculty union is demanding to bargain with the College over the effects of ending this workplace precaution, as well.

Vaccination reduces the potential harm caused by COVID – but, to be clear, vaccination alone is not sufficient. The efficacy of COVID vaccination weakens over a period of months – hence the need for boosters to replenish resistance. And, the continuing spread of COVID accelerates the creation of COVID variants, many of which are different enough that current COVID vaccines may be less effective against them. Vaccination is an important protective measure, but vaccination is not an option for everyone – and vaccination alone is not sufficient to end the pandemic or to protect workers' health and safety.

And, although the State continues to require vaccination of workers and students to maintain the misnamed "Fully Vaccinated Campus" status, the College's implementation of that requirement has concerning holes in it. At present, if a student has not attested that they are vaccinated, the College does not prevent them from coming to in-person classrooms and offices. Instead, the College prevents the student from registering for future quarters' courses until they do attest. The presence of unvaccinated students in offices, the Library, and in-person classes increases the risk of COVID infection and injury in the workplace – and going unmasked increases that risk even further.

High-quality masks reduce the transmission of COVID-19. But, the Federal and State governments have removed mask requirements for most workplace settings and the College is following suit. This increases the risk of COVID transmission and injury in the workplace. The College currently has a supply of KN95 masks, which it is offering to workers. But, at present, those masks are available at the College's discretion. The College is not yet required to provide masks as workplace safety equipment.

Testing for COVID infections can help students and workers determine whether they have COVID and should take additional steps to reduce the spread further. But, government standards for funding, providing, and reporting test results continue falling. Funding for PCR testing and for PCR testing sites continues falling. As an inadequate substitute, the state government provides at-home rapid tests – only ten per household per month, which is insufficient for many households’ needs – and the Federal government has provided even fewer rapid tests per household. Ready availability COVID testing continues to be an important public health measure and a workplace safety issue.

And, once a person has tested positive for COVID, they also need an obvious and easy means to report their case, so that a robust exposure notification system can alert other people that they may have been exposed and can also take precautions, such as quarantining and testing.

But, finding out that you’ve tested positive for COVID is only useful if you can then take further precautionary measures – including having enough sick leave to stay home to recover and to prevent the spread of COVID in the workplace and in public – and having enough readily available work coverage that using that sick leave won’t be more work than going to work sick. While the College provides sick leave, those sick leave policies, developed pre-pandemic, don’t account for the additional sick leave necessary during the current pandemic. Unlike, say, influenza, people are more likely to contract COVID-19 multiple times in a year. When a pandemic changes the world, policies developed pre-pandemic are no longer sufficient.

Each of these are among a host of workplace health & safety issues that faculty members are facing during the ongoing pandemic. And, for pandemic health and safety, as with so many workers issues, true quality exceeds government standards. The Federal and state government may be lowering their standards for pandemic response, abdicating responsibility for our public health and leaving each individual to fend for themselves. And the College may be choosing to follow those standards downward. But, workers who organize ourselves as labor unions are not left alone. We have each other and we organize, mobilize, and exercise our contractual and legal rights to hold you, our employer, to a higher standard. The stakes are too high to let standards continue to fall so low.

Good afternoon everyone. My name is Ric Doike-Foreman and I have the honor to serve as the Washington Federation of State Employees (WFSE) Chief Shop Steward.

As our interim president's, Steve Hanson, term draws to a close, I would like to thank him for his willingness to listen, understand, and involve himself directly in trying to turn things around and make Shoreline a better place. His time and place were temporary. He could have sat back and been a place holder doing nothing, saying nothing allowing us to navigate in the space of uncertainty until our new president came aboard. Instead, he directly involved himself in the betterment of our campus to the extent he was capable. I truly appreciate the time and effort President Hanson has given over to the college and we are the better for it.

Shoreline Community College is now on the precipice of a substantial change in leadership. As the college transitions from the time of disrespect, disregard for opinion, freedom of thought we remain ever hopeful for reaching a new tomorrow. A tomorrow that will bring forth a new leader. A new leader that will listen to their employees, take the time to understand their employees. A new leader that will respect their employees.

We wait for the passing of this twilight to a new day. We look forward in anticipation that this new day brings civic responsibility as the fundamental tool we all, employee and leadership alike, use to work toward resolving long standing disputes, mistrust, disrespect. We look forward to this new day where justice becomes the moral duty of leadership in upholding the values of Shoreline Community College.

We look forward. Not back. We look forward with positivity to a change in our culture, ourselves, our college. A change filled with pride and promise. Dr Jack Kahn, we ask that you do not let us down.

Thank you.

Subject: Summer & Fall 2022 Services & Activities (S&A) Budget

Background

At the May 25, 2022 Board of Trustees meeting, the Board was presented with a Services & Activities (S&A) fee budget allocation proposal of $851,672 for the first half of FY 2022-2023 (July-December)

Based on a projected revenue of $1 million and an anticipated budget of $1.4 million (including up to $400,000 from reserves) for FY 2022-2023, the Services & Activities Fee Committee believes that the $851,672 allocation for the first half of FY 2022-2023 (July-December), will allow for ample funding remaining for the winter and spring 2023 to support S&A programs.

Recommendation

That the Board of Trustees take action on the following:

Recommendation	15

Executive Summary

Over the last year, the Services & Activities (S&A) Committee has continued to allocate funding to its 18 programs and an anticipated 10-15 student clubs on a per-quarter basis. This decision was made to allow for continued flexibility as the College has navigated its re-opening following the COVID-19 pandemic and impacts to enrollment and student engagement were still unknown. For summer and fall 2021, a total of $678,128 was allocated to 15 programs and discretionary budgets. By the end of fall quarter, approx. $210,255 had been spent. An additional $216,233 was allocated for winter quarter, and $119,015 was allocated for spring. Of the total $1,013,376 that was allocated during the 2021-2022 academic year, $611,101 has been spent to date. A total of $1,019,635 has been brought in by the S&A fee as of May 10, 2022, and due to the lower than projected amount being spent by all S&A programs and clubs, an anticipated $350,000 will transfer over to the S&A reserve budget, which as a result will have approx. $1.65 million at the end of the current fiscal year.

Table A: 2021-2022 S&A Allocations & Expenditures

Su/Fa21 Allocation	Su/Fa21 Spent	Allocation Remaining	W22 Allocation	W22 Spent	Allocation Remaining	Sp22 Allocation	Sp22 Spent	Allocation Remaining
$678,128	$210,255	$467,873	$216,233	$460,286	$434,075	$119,015	$611,101	$402,275

With the College's decision to continue an increasing but still lower in-person course offering for fall 2022, the S&A Committee plans to again allocate funding for summer and fall quarters only at this time, based on an initial projected revenue of $1 million for the 2022-2023 academic year. This plan allows for continued adaptability to make decisions in mid-fall based on real-time impacts to the College as it evaluates plans for winter and spring.

With this in mind, all S&A funded programs were asked to submit a budget proposal for the first half of the new fiscal year. Of the 19 programs supported by S&A, 15 programs responded. Programs were advised that any items not funded at this time may be requested via ASG's mini-grant process starting in late-September. At that time, programs and student clubs will be asked to provide an overview and budget breakdown for their event/project, which helps keep ASG apprised of events and initiatives taking place on campus and allows them to provide support and promotions to the greater student body.

(Summer/Fall only)

A total of $851,672 has been allocated for summer & fall quarter, and a breakdown of funding for each program is provided in the following pages. Based on the estimated $1 million projected to be brought in by S&A revenue next year, we may need to access up to $400,000 from reserves to continue to support S&A programs through the 2022-2023 academic year.

As the college continues to navigate a gradual re-opening of campus, its impact on student participation in co-curricular activities and overall enrollment remain unknown. In order to remain most flexible and responsive to the evolving situation and our programs' needs, the S&A Committee has decided to allocate funding for summer and fall 2022 only at this time. After reviewing the $876,341 in requests received, the committee recommends that the Board of Trustees approve the proposed $851,672 in allocations. Based on a projected revenue of $1 million and an anticipated budget of $1.4 million (including up to $400,000 from reserves) for the 2022-2023 academic year, the committee believes that this allocation will allow for ample funding remaining for winter and spring to support S&A programs.

Thank you,
